TRANSITIONS

When most towns celebrate their age, they probably never went through the drastic changes that Fish House did.

- 1762 the first permanent house is built by Godfrey Shew, but it was burned down in the Revolutionary War, at which time, Godfrey and sons are taken prisoner
- 1784 Godfrey Shew and sons returned from being captured and rebuilt their home, thus restarting Fish House
- 1865

 – the end of the Civil War. Many of the Fish House men fought in that war. Fish House, once primarily a farming community, started to really establish itself as a town with stores and mills.
- 1875

 The railroad came to Northville,
 Sacandaga Park, a resort with cottages,
 a theater, a hotel and a bandstand.
- 1890's— Fish House had become quite the summer place to be. Many wealthy people had built large summer homes. Fishing was also a big draw to this beautiful summer place.
- Early 1920's Rumors began that a lake would be made, destroying the valley as they knew it. Land sharks began to buy up many properties in anticipation.
- 1927 The preparation for the lake began. Trees were cut and houses were burned or taken down. Twelve houses in Fish House were moved to higher ground. Six were burned or razed. Parts of CR 110 were moved to higher ground.
- 1930 The lake filling began in March.
 The depression had set in. Many people who had lost their homes due to the lake, moved away, not to return. Some who remained, struggled & some lost houses, not due to high water but to foreclosure.
- 1942 With the depression over, the lake, once again became a popular summer destination. But in 1942, gas rationing started. Many camps and cottages were closed, never to recover.
- NOW Fish House, flooded by the lake, never returned to be a town center with stores. But it has beautiful lake views and it is a wonderful place to live!

Before & After

A Fish House General Store

In 1865, Robert Humphrey came to Fish House, bought a building from P. Grinnell, and started a store. Since that time, the store had been run by the Noyes, Smiths and the Steads. This store was one of the 12 buildings that were moved when the lake was built.
